

Image for illustration purposes only

SAVE OUR SEASIDE

VISIBLE from the Isle of Wight, Christchurch, Bournemouth, Poole and Purbeck
LARGER than any operating windfarm, anywhere in the world
TALLER than most skyscrapers in London

OUR COAST IS UNDER THREAT FROM PLANS TO BUILD THE WORLD'S BIGGEST WIND POWER SITE NEAR THE ISLE OF WIGHT AND PURBECK.

The proposal, by a Dutch/French consortium, will see as many as 200 wind turbines, up to 200 metres tall, towering over beaches and cliffs and threatening boating and bird life. These giant turbines would blight the beautiful coastal views enjoyed by residents and visitors alike.

This massive and unnecessary industrial development would be big and close, only 9 miles from the UNESCO World Heritage Site at Swanage, making it highly intrusive visually. Other offshore wind farms are much smaller and further out to sea.

Help us to protect this uniquely beautiful and environmentally sensitive stretch of coastline for all to enjoy.

BEAUTIFUL LANDSCAPES HAVE BEEN RUINED BY BIRD-CHOPPING WIND TURBINES

THE TIMES, 22 JULY 2013

There is a real chance of stopping this industrialisation of our seaside. But you must play your part by emailing your MP (find them on www.theyworkforyou.com) or our local council planning@bournemouth.gov.uk or Poole Council on 01202 633633.

To find what more you can do, visit:
www.challengenavitus.org.uk/who-to-write-to.html

You can send a letter by email to our local newspaper: www.bournemouthcho.co.uk/yoursay/sendaletter/, or contact BBC Dorset dorset@bbc.co.uk.

Don't sleep walk towards this blight. You can do something. Act now.

Please email us on pcba1313@gmail.com with your comments.

Published by Poole and Christchurch Bay Residents

